President's Message

Dear Friends,

I trust that these warmer days, daffodils and/or dandelions, sunshine and even the gentle rain at times are as welcomed by you and your dogs as by our dogs and I. It felt like hibernation at times this winter so the freedom of being outside with our dogs is even more welcomed than usual.

One of the first signs of spring is when the field people among us send out schedules of training days and while I don't personally participate, the pictures conjured up of a Golden Retriever waiting to be sent for the bird or birds is one that always makes me smile. The excitement, the eagerness, the desire is all over that dog while he does exactly what he was meant to do. It's worthwhile to go just to see those expressions.

I hope you enjoy this issue of Golden Tales with its pictures of our Specialty and our CCA event. I'm proud that our Club is diverse and that we support breed and field events and that so many of our members also participate in Obedience and Rally, Tracking, and Agility. And the support that the rescue of Golden Retrievers has among our club members is outstanding and very gratifying.

I hope you read the article on Cancer research in this issue, and while reading it feel proud about and gratified for the support the "Golden Nation" gives to Canine Cancer Research through the Golden Retriever Foundation's Zeke Fund.

There is also information and an entry form for the June 13-14 seminar that Syracuse Obedience Training Club is sponsoring: "Transformational Puppy Rearing and Puppy Evaluation". Presenter is Dr. Gayle Watkins of Aviddog International. Dr. Watkins is well known to many of our members as a breeder of multi-purpose Golden Retrievers and has shown over 50 American and Canadian conformation, obedience, agility and tracking champions, as well as Master Hunters, Qualified All-Age and mission-ready Search and Rescue dogs. I hope that each of our Club's breeders consider attending. While I am not and will not become breeder, I believe that the more I know about the optimal development of puppies will enrich my over-all understanding of dogs that may have had less than optimal rearing at crucial times. We're lucky to have Dr. Watkins in our area for this seminar and SOTC is to be commended for sponsoring this seminar. Dr. Watkins recently was a participant in our April CCA and this provided me the opportunity to speak with her – her enthusiasm for her subject is infectious. I'm anticipating a wonderful two days in June. Please consider attending.

A wonderful and active summer to each of you.

Field News

By Maxine Clark

Field training days have started this year with a BANG! The dogs are all very happy to see the end of winter and nice grassy fields. Attendance has been great with some of our newer members coming out and others that have not tried field giving it a SHOT!!!!

The dates are all on our website. We have lots of fun and welcome anyone that would like to come. You can expect some club members adding JH after the dogs name this year along with lots of passes at the WC/WCX.

If anyone needs more information you can email me at Maxdoglady@aol.com.

Pam Fuller and McIntyre (CH Gingerrun Saqish Golden Pine Mac, TDX) earned the Rally Novice title, Syracuse, in March.

Beth Greenfield and Brees (Westbrook's Heart of Bramisol) earned the Rally Advanced Title, DOTCORN Trial, Rochester, February.

RESCUE REPORTER

By Carol Allen

While I don't usually do this, this time I am trying to shock you.

Well, you say, a picture of a dog in a cage isn't shocking. Maybe the cage isn't very clean but what is your point? These two pictures were part of a slide series I received last summer. In the first slide there were live chickens and then a separate rack of produce – lettuce, etc. Then these two slides. Lastly what appeared to be sides of beef, lamb, etc. This was a food market in South Korea. The pictures were sent to me by a retired Korean school teacher and were taken by a tourist visiting from Germany. Could the US rescue programs help by taking these dogs? Not necessarily the ones in the pictures (for they are long gone) but others like them. And if you are really into self-torture, google humans eating dogs or anything similar. I did, and will never be quite the same.

Golden Retriever Rescue programs, individually and collectively, are being asked by kind animal caregivers in Asia, in other parts of the Western Hemisphere and now particularly the Middle East to accept Golden Retrievers. Do we do this? Will it incite the same hostility that human immigration discussion has lately in this country? Will we hear “American Goldens First”? The fact is that all Golden Retriever rescue programs in the country are reporting they have more qualified and waiting applicants than they have Goldens for adoption. Most have the resources, human and financial, to accept immigration and know that it will not affect their ability to accept the “American” Goldens. Many are losing volunteers including foster homes because they have nothing for those volunteers to do. Need breed loyalty stop at our shores? Is a Golden a Golden regardless of the country in which he lives?

I hope I've shocked you. And I hope you'll form an opinion on this topic regardless of what that opinion is.

Heritable Risk for Lymphoma and Hemangiosarcoma in Golden Retrievers New Discovery Identifies Shared Genetic Risk Factors

In June 2010, The Golden Retriever Foundation and Morris Animal Foundation entered into a partnership to jointly fund a major three-year, $1 million canine cancer initiative titled Discovery and Characterization of Heritable and Somatic Cancer Mutations in Golden Retrievers, or the MADGiC Project (Making Advanced Discoveries in Golden Cancers). The study was led by premier canine cancer researchers Jaime Modiano, VMD, PhD, at the University of Minnesota; Matthew Breen, PhD, at North Carolina State University; and Kerstin Lindblad-Toh, PhD, at the Broad Institute of MIT and Harvard, and Uppsala University, Sweden. They worked together to investigate mutations that are involved in risk and progression of the two most common cancers affecting Golden Retrievers, hemangiosarcoma and lymphoma. Although focused on Golden Retrievers, this research benefits all dogs because these cancers affect every breed and cause the deaths of tens of thousands of dogs each year.

This research benefits humans too, because the genes involved in cancer are sometimes the same in dogs as in people, but the mutations can be more difficult to discover in people. Therefore, identifying these genes also advances scientists' understanding of common human cancers such as lymphoma, and rare angiosarcomas.

Some ground breaking findings from this study appear in a recent paper in PLoS Genetics, "Genome-wide Association Study Identifies Shared Risk Loci Common to Two Malignancies in Golden Retrievers" (<http://journals.plos.org/plosgenetics/article?id=10.1371/journal.pgen.1004922>) From work performed in Dr Lindblad-Toh's lab, the investigators report that they have identified two loci that together contribute approximately 20% of the risk of developing hemangiosarcoma and lymphoma in Golden Retrievers. These two "loci" can be thought of as locations on a chromosome (in this case, both loci are on chromosome 5) at which DNA sequences that elevate risk can be found. So if all of the DNA sequences that create the "map" for building a dog could be compared to the map of the US, then identifying "loci" would be similar to narrowing the locations down to specific neighborhoods.

After identifying these loci, the scientists searched the "neighborhoods" for specific protein-coding genes that could be the cause of the increased cancer risk. No genes that produce abnormal proteins were found, but instead the elevated risk appears to come from groups of tightly-linked DNA sequences called "haplotypes" that regulate the expression of protein-coding genes. It was found that these risk haplotypes regulate genes involved in immune response, and this may be the reason that risk for both hemangiosarcoma and lymphoma is elevated in dogs that carry them. Conclusions from the paper suggest that "the interaction between the immune system and malignant cells plays a common role" in the development of both of these cancers.

"It was unexpected and remarkable to discover that two rather different cancers, B-cell lymphoma and hemangiosarcoma, are linked to the same inherited risk factors," the study authors state. "We find the existence of at least four disease-associated haplotypes in the two nearby chromosome 5 regions intriguing, and speculate that there may be genes in the region affecting traits for which dogs are bred in this population."

The research team of Modiano, Breen, and Lindblad-Toh was awarded another three year grant in 2013, this time in a partnership between the Golden Retriever Foundation and the AKC Canine Health Foundation. The investigators are continuing to validate the newly discovered haplotypes that predispose some Golden Retrievers to cancer so that breeders may soon be able to reduce cancer risk through testing for these risk haplotypes. But while these known inherited risk haplotypes convey a significant percentage (~20%) of the risk of hemangiosarcoma and lymphoma, it is likely that there are additional genetic risk factors too. (And of course, environmental and sporadic factors also play a role in the development of cancer.)

In addition to informing breeding decisions, these discoveries could also lead to DNA tests that may be useful for diagnosis and possibly even to guide treatment choices in the future. The scientists are also continuing to investigate mutations that occur in the tumors themselves (somatic mutations) and are profiling the susceptibility of specific tumor types to various chemotherapy compounds, which may lead to improved therapy options.

We express our grateful appreciation to the dedicated Golden owners who supported this research by donating samples when their beloved dogs were diagnosed, as well as those who contributed to Golden Retriever Foundation fund raising campaigns.

There is still more to do, and owners of Golden Retrievers diagnosed with lymphoma or hemangiosarcoma can support this important research by donating a tumor sample (www.modianolab.org or www.breenlab.org) or a blood sample (www.dogdna.org)

To contribute to a fund (Zeke Fund) that supports this ongoing research, please visit the Golden Retriever Foundation website at www.goldenretrieverfoundation.org

SYRACUSE OBEDIENCE TRAINING CLUB PRESENTS...

TRANSFORMATIONAL PUPPY REARING & PUPPY EVALUATION

A TWO-DAY SEMINAR WITH GAYLE WATKINS, PH.D.

DATE: JUNE 13 & 14, 2015 (SATURDAY - SUNDAY)

LOCATION: SOTC TRAINING FACILITY AT 6392 DEERE RD, SYRACUSE, NY

SEMINAR DETAILS: This two-day seminar will focus on the why, what and how of the ground-breaking system Gayle has developed to bring out the best in puppies.

DAY 1: Creating Dogs That Enrich People's Lives will focus on Puppy Rearing from before conception to nine weeks. During this session, she will present Avidog's techniques to raise pups, week by week, to produce healthy, stable dogs that are well prepared for their future homes.

DAY 2: Matching Puppies With Owners So All Thrive will introduce the Avidog® Puppy Evaluation and Matching program. This portion of the seminar will focus on the system that Gayle uses to evaluate litters, including the Avidog® Puppy Evaluation Test (APET). She will also discuss how to use these assessment results to appropriately match puppies to buyers and guide new owners in the training and development of their puppy. This seminar will include detailed videos and practical exercises, in addition to lectures.

Who Should Attend: The seminar has something to offer any serious dog person but will have particular appeal to present and future breeders seeking to produce stable, confident canine competitors and companions. Dog owners involved in performance sports and working dogs, as well as those who test and evaluate litters, will also benefit.

Additional benefits: All seminar participants will receive ongoing support and updates on the latest research from the Avidog® team and will be able to access password protected parts of the Avidog® site to continue dialogue.

About the Speaker: Dr. Gayle Watkins of Avidog® International (www.Avidog.com) has actively shown and bred multi-purpose Golden Retrievers under the Gaylan's kennel name since 1979. Over the past thirty years, she has produced, owned and/or shown over 50 American and Canadian conformation, obedience, agility and tracking champions, as well as Master Hunters, Qualified All-Age and mission-ready Search and Rescue dogs. Her breeding program has also produced over a dozen GRCA outstanding Dams and Sires. The keys to Gaylan's success are the techniques Gayle had developed to rear litters, evaluate puppies, and match them to homes based on measurable traits – this two-day seminar teaches the why, what and how of this ground-breaking system.

Our annual clinic will be conducted by Dr. Thomas Kern, DVM (Diplomate, ACVO) of Cornell University. "Cleared" dogs will be eligible for CERF/OFA-ECR registration (but you MUST have your dog's AKC registration number available to be recorded at the exam).

We will do our best to schedule you according to your requested time, but please allow some flexibility, especially if you are bringing multiple dogs. Plan to arrive at least 20 minutes early to allow for the administration of eye drops. You will be notified ONLY in the event that we can't accommodate your requested appointment time.
